PREMIER RESENTFUL AGAINST OBSTACLES PLACED IN HIS WAY

Resignation Comes With Dramatic Suddenness After Eloquent
Speech in the Chamber

Washington Conference Not Expected to Suffer Delay; French
Delegates Are Optimistic

(By The Associated Press).

Paris, Jan. 12.—Aristide Briand today resigned from the premiership and Raymond Poincaré, former president of the republic, will probably succeed him.

M. Briand's resignation came with dramatic suddenness in the chamber of deputies, for the premier, returning this morning from his conferences with the British prime minister at Cannes, had brought the opposing members of his cabinet into accord with his policies and by a powerful speech in the chamber, had apparently won over the great majority to his side. His blunt eloquence evoked a tremendous ovation, and when he abruptly declared his intention of withdrawing from the government, the members of the chamber seemed overwhelmed.

Briand Felt Resentment.

Although the retirement of Premier Briand was unexpected, it was apparent from the very beginning that he felt keen resentment against the many obstacles placed in his way in the important negotiations in which he has been engaged. Throughout his entire speech, he had the appearance of a man aged and physically fatigued.

Notwithstanding this, however, seldom has M. Briand risen to the high pitch of eloquence attained today, when he said:

"A statesman has no right to go to the pitch of battle if he has not the certainty that he shall not receive bullets from behind. He can face the bullets of the enemy, but he must not receive any from his own country."

M. Briand called on President Millerand immediately after leaving the chamber. He remained with the president for only a few minutes; then he informed the press representatives.

"My resignation is absolutely final. I cannot conclude to govern under such conditions. Of course, I shall not return to Cannes, but I hope my resignation will not cause cancellation of the Geneva conference."

With M. Briand went his entire cabinet, and, after conferring with the president of the senate and chamber, M. Millerand called upon M. Poincaré to form a new ministry. M. Poincaré tentatively agreed to this, but asked for a few hours in which to consult his friends. He promised to give a final answer tomorrow.

M. Poincaré, president of the chamber, was in the Chamber of Deputies, and to The Associated Press correspondents and others:

"France is facing a situation which is as gloomy as the darkest days of the war. When the Germans were at bay, M. Poincaré (then president of the republic), overlooking former personal differences between himself and M. Clemenceau, called in the man whom the country demanded. Differences of opinion between the president of the republic and M. Poincaré, our president is a big enough man to forget them."

Doné Viviani, former premier, who was one of the French delegates at the Washington conference, said:

"Under present circumstances the life of a statesman in France is impossible. I fully approve M. Briand's attitude but we shall do our best to help his successor in the work of restoring France."

BRIAND MOVE NOT EXPECTED TO DELAY ARMS CONFERENCE

Washington, Jan. 12.—The resignation of Aristide Briand, the French prime minister, will not nullify the results already obtained in the Washington conference nor delay the negotiations, in the opinion of delegates to the conference. This view was expressed today by Secretary Hughes, Mr. Balfour, head of the British group, and Senator Schanzer of Italy, while M. Serrault, head of the French delegation, in answer to a question to night as to whether, in his opinion, the work of the conference would be delayed on this account, said:

"No, not at all. I see no reason why there should be the least delay."

M. Serrault who was minister of the colonies in the Briand ministry, is in Washington as a plenipotentiary of France, and it is expected in French circles here that the delegation will be subject to no change in personnel nor in instructions. "As minister of the colonies," M. Serrault said, "I have resigned and under the procedure I will remain in charge of colonial affairs until the name of my successor is announced. I shall continue as a delegate to the conference and shall work without interruption in the same spirit that I have heretofore, the spirit of good will and confidence."

A poll of the chamber after suspension of the session showed between 580 and 590 in favor of M. Briand, indicating a strong vote of confidence.

The head of the delegation was the one wholly absorbing topic at French headquarters and it was discussed with great frankness.

"I am getting tired of office," remarked M. Briand to one of his friends just before he left Washington in November, and he intimated that he would not be averse to dropping the reins of government.

M. Viviani, discussing political possibilities before he followed M. Briand, had the impression that there would be a change of government by January 15, but he added the day he left that the four-power treaty would give the ministry two months longer.

Secretary Hughes announced officially shortly after noon today the fact of Premier Briand's resignation to the heads of several of the armament delegations who were in conference with him at the time. The news was received with expressions of dismay. "It is a very grave event," said the head of one delegation.

Members of the American delegation expressed regret.

"I am very sorry. I liked M. Briand," said Senator Lodge of Massachusetts.

Briand's Remarks Preceding Resignation.

Premier Briand put the Anglo-French pact, the question of postponement of German reparations payments and French participation in the Geneva economic conference squarely up to the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon, telling the deputies in the bluntest terms, to take them or leave them.

The premier first presented the question of the British pact.

"You have been complaining for three years," he said "of not being called upon to share in shaping French policies. I am bringing you what you have been demanding for three years and it is up to you to say whether you want it or not."

"As far as I am concerned," he continued, "I am merely making these explanations to you and do not ask your approval or refusal. Here is France's security. Take it or leave it."

The premier then turned to the subject of the Geneva conference.

"It is inadmissible," he said, "that France should be absent from this conference, which is purely financial and economic, especially when such a powerful financial and economic state as the United States, without whose cooperation work is impossible, has agreed to participate."

"Do you wish France not to be represented there?" he asked. "If so say so. For my part I wish France to take part."

Premier Briand said the reparations commission had agreed to grant a moratorium for Germany on her reparations payment.

In handling the German moratorium question Premier Briand said:

"You must make up your mind on that question—a moratorium for Aristide Briand.

Germany. It is granted because France has not voice in it. If France had had the decision it never would have been considered, but thanks to the treaty of Versailles, article 234, the reparations commission is empowered to grant delays and you may make up your mind now, that a majority of the reparations commission has agreed to grant a moratorium."

Climax of Stormy Session.

M. Briand's resignation, in the face of what was considered a certain majority in the chamber of deputies, came as a shock to a stormy session of the full cabinet at the Elysee palace this morning, at which the premier and President Millerand clashed, the French president remaining unalterably opposed to the text of the proposed Anglo-French treaty.

M. Briand's resignation came exactly one year after the fall of the Leygues cabinet.

M. Briand attended the chamber with his resignation after a full hour of prescriptive nature of his policy with extreme bluntness.

"I have devoted one year of my life," he declared, "in trying to place my country in such a position that it would not be the vessel of anyone. I still have the thorough belief that Great Britain is a friendly nation. I have brought you security. My hands were tied on reparations by the treaty of Versailles. I have done my best. Let some one else do better."

M. Briand was given a tremendous ovation as he left the Chamber of Deputies. It was the general opinion that he would have had a handsome majority if he had asked for a vote of confidence.

Supreme Council Adjourns.

Cannes, Jan. 12.—The Allied supreme council adjourned indefinitely tonight following receipt of news of the resignation of the Briand cabinet.

Adjournment was taken after Dr. Walter Henderson, German financial expert, had finished addressing the council, and no action nor comment was made upon his remarks concerning Germany's default of her January reparations payment.

NO RECOVERY FOR STOLEN LIQUOR

Supreme Court Justice Non-Suits Bath Physician, Who Admits Volstead Violation

Elmira, Jan. 12.—Sitting in regular term in Steuben county at Hornell today, Supreme Court Justice Cunningham ruled that Dr. T. C. Burleson, a Dr. N. Y. physician, is not entitled to recover any damages whatever for the alleged theft of several barrels of wine, stolen, it was claimed, while in transit from Keuka Lake wine cellars at Hornell to the doctor's home. In non-suiting the plaintiff, Justice Cunningham said:

"The possession of the wine held by Dr. Burleson on January 20, 1921, was illegal in that he admits having purchased it after the Volstead act became effective and after the town of Bath had been voted 'dry.' There was therefore no legal market for the wine and no legal value can be placed upon the loss complained of, and the plaintiff is not entitled to recovery."

BROAD PRESIDENTIAL POWERS.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Broad powers asked for by President Harding in administering the proposed new tariff law with a view to meeting unusual and changing world conditions, which could not be anticipated by Congress, would be granted under amendment to the Fordney bill proposed today by Senator Smart of Utah, ranking Republican of the senate finance committee.

EMPLOYMENT AT LOW EBB; MARCH IMPROVEMENT SEEN

Washington, Jan. 12.—Unemployment conditions throughout the country have grown worse since the first of the year, due to the seasonal dip in employment following the holidays, Secretary Hoover declared today.

However, he said the seasonal dip in employment, which generally lasts about three months, should begin to let up in March, when improved conditions are expected.

SINN FEIN TO DECIDE COURSE

Extraordinary Convention Called
For February 7, After DeValera Predicts Split

2 OPPOSING FORCES

Final Decision Must Rest With People, Either For or Against the Treaty

(By The Associated Press).

Dublin, Jan. 12.—The king's proclamation of amnesty, announcement of the departure of the auxiliaries, and the resolution of the Sinn Fein executive council to summon an extraordinary convention for February 7, to decide upon the future of the organization, were the chief developments in the Irish situation today.

Behind the Sinn Fein stands the Sinn Fein organization of nearly 1,500 clubs, from every district in Ireland. It is responsible for the success of parliamentary and other elections, and is regarded as the authentic popular voice by all Sinn Feiners. DeValera is still its president and all its machinery heretofore has been directed exclusively toward independent Republican aims.

The morning session of the executive body of the Sinn Fein was devoted to the election of a standing committee, which meets in Dublin for all routine work of organizing. The election did not follow strict party lines, but its membership will be canvassed throughout the country tomorrow to decide for or against the supporters of the treaty.

Victory for Griffith.

The election of the standing committee resulted in a victory for Arthur Griffith and his party. Of the 13 members elected only three are opposed to the treaty.

Mr. Griffith has made additional cabinet appointments. Ernest Blythe is the new minister of trade and commerce, Joseph McGrath, assistant comptroller, and Michael Hayes is the new minister of education.

Mr. DeValera frankly faced the situation recognizing that within the organization there were two opposing forces, for and against the treaty. His idea was to secure a temporary working arrangement as a basis for supporting the Dail cabinet while the body was acting in its capacity as authorized by the Republican government. He expressed the hope that there would be no bitterness and left the matter to the executive body to decide.

People Must Decide.

The executive body, through the numerous delegates, declared that the final decision regarding the future of the organization must rest with the people, and it was voted that the whole question should be discussed, not by the executive body merely, but by a general convention composed of 3,000 delegates, to be held in the Municipal hall on February 7.

Mr. DeValera was pressed to admit that the convention had decided the minority would be bound by the majority, but he declared it was his opinion that a division was inevitable and that each side would fight the other at the election of a free state.

If the organization favored the election of representatives to a free state, he would not continue to be president, and would oppose such candidates.

He indicated that the electoral activities of himself and his friends would begin immediately.

The transfer of the functions of the various departments of Dublin Castle is expected immediately after ratification by the southern parliament on Saturday.

General Railroad Strike.

Dublin, Jan. 12.—A general strike on all the Irish railways is announced for Saturday at midnight, owing to refusal of the railway managers to meet the chairman and secretary of the Locomotive society to discuss the proposal of the company to abolish the wages and hours which were settled by the national wages board in June, 1920.

The men declare the strike has been called to resist an attempt to throw them back into the position of low wages, long hours and bad working conditions of a decade ago. The strike will affect 23,000 workers.

CANADIAN RULE HELD UP.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 12.—An order in council was passed today, postponing until after the next session of parliament operation of the section of the customs tariff act which provided that all goods imported into Canada must be marked with the country of origin.

Provision was said to have come into force October 1, 1921, but was held up because of protests from importers.

DETAILS KEEP DELEGATES BUSY

Hope of Plenary Session This Week to Announce Definite
Results Is Given Up

BRIAND CAUSES STIR

American Officials Fear Resignation
May Have Far-Reaching Effect on Conference

(By The Associated Press).

Washington, Jan. 12.—Further details of both the naval treaty and the Shantung negotiations were ironed out today, but the arms delegates gave up hope of a plenary session this week to announce definite results.

The Big Five completed its first revision of the naval convention and sent the text back to its legal experts for a redraft of the changes made. It will meet again tomorrow and a virtually completed treaty may be ready for an executive session of the full naval committee on Saturday or Monday.

In the Shantung negotiations, further supplemental agreements were reached by the Japanese and Chinese and a new promise of progress on the central question of the Tsingtao-Tsinfu railway was held out by a series of compromise suggested informally by Secretary Hughes and Arthur J. Balfour.

Briand's Move Causes Stir.

Word of the resignation of Premier Briand of France created a stir in Washington circles, but the opposition in French quarters tonight was to minimize its immediate effects on the Washington negotiations. Albert Sarraut, head of the delegation, announced that he would go ahead with his conference duties pending instructions from the new cabinet and indicated his belief that the change of administration would not vitiate the agreement reached here.

Among American officials in the conference, however, there was some apprehension that M. Briand's retirement might have a far-reaching effect on the naval limitation program. It was pointed out that the retiring premier had been directly responsible for France's withdrawal of her 350,000 ton capital ship proposal and that the temper of the succeeding cabinet on that subject could only be conjectured.

Final Agreement Pending.

Included in the few treaty provisions not yet finally accepted in the informal conversations of the Big Five are understood to be the sections relating to disposition of scrapped ships and fixing a "status quo" for Pacific fortifications. On the former, however, the chief delegates are said to be in virtual agreement, while in regard to fortifications the instructions awaited from Tokyo are generally expected to make an early settlement possible.

The question of defining the geographical scope of the Pacific fortifications article was described today as largely a matter of finding the proper technical terminology to carry out the intention of the treaty.

A reply from Tokyo now is expected by the Japanese by Sunday, and they believe the tentative wording worked out by the Big Five will be accepted.

A spokesman for the American delegation gave the impression that the United States had reached no final decision regarding China's request for conference discussion of the "21 demands," although some of the American delegation members are known to be strongly of the opinion that the subject cannot be debated in view of Japan's objection.

Shantung Negotiations Proceed.

Directing their efforts to settlement of minor phases of the Shantung dispute while awaiting word from Tokyo and Peking regarding compromise proposals, the American and Japanese delegates today agreed to the disposition of concessions for extension of the road. The two groups, however, failed to reach an agreement concerning the opening of the port of Tsingtao to the commerce of the president of the republic, but another attempt will be made tomorrow, it was announced.

The Chinese demanded that Tsingtao be a "self-opened" port, as distinguished from a "treaty-opened" port. To this the Japanese tentatively agreed but desired more time to consider terms under which the port should be opened and administered by China. No great difficulty is looked for in arriving at a solution of this question, however, but the many details involved are said to consume a good deal of time.

CIDER WAS THE KICK.

White Plains, Jan. 12.—Sweet cider, analyzed by chemists and found to contain less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol, led a majority of the 121 cases of drunkenness in White Plains last year, declared Police John Harmon today.

"Drunkness is a bad habit," he added, "and I believe the cider must ferment after taking."

NO PROHIBITION JURY.

New York, Jan. 12.—Mo. producers and editors have been asked to adopt a serious attitude toward prohibition. The National Association of the Motion Picture Industry announced today that it had received a copy of a resolution adopted by the committee on legislation and law enforcement of the New York Federation of Women's Clubs, urging that prohibition be eliminated from all films.

Newberry Entitled To His Seat, Senate Decides, 46 to 41

Amendment to Resolution Condemns Excessive Expenditures
in Political Campaigns

Democrats Fight

Nine Republicans Join Them in Opposing Resolution Dismissing Henry Ford's Suit

Washington, Jan. 12.—Truman H. Newberry was declared by the senate today to be entitled to the seat which he now holds, and which was made the basis of a contest by Henry Ford, his Democratic opponent in the 1918 Michigan senatorial election.

The vote was 46 to 41.

The senate acted on a resolution sponsored by Republican leaders asserting that Mr. Newberry was entitled to his seat but amended in last-minute conferences so as to condemn excessive expenditure of funds in senatorial campaigns.

Democrats Oppose Action.

All of Senator Newberry's supporters were Republicans. The almost solid Democratic membership was joined by nine Republicans in opposition. They were Borah, Chappin, Jones of Washington, McKim, Lodge, La Follette, Norbeck, Norris and Southard.

Senator Newberry, in the following statement, hailed the senate's action as a vindication:

"My heart is filled with thankfulness that the three years and four months of persecution have ended in complete vindication and exoneration of myself and all concerned."

"The senate's final vote came upon the following resolution, amended by Senator Spencer, Republican of Missouri, to declare Mr. Newberry 'entitled' to his seat and substituting an amendment by Senator Willis for the original clause which declared the charges against Mr. Newberry were not sustained:

"I. That the contest of Henry Ford against Truman H. Newberry, be, and it is, hereby dismissed."

"2. That Truman H. Newberry is hereby declared to be a duly elected senator from the state of Michigan for the term of six years commencing on the fourth day of March, 1919, and is entitled to hold his seat in the senate of the United States."

"3. That, whether the amount expended in this (Michigan) primary was $135,000 as was full reported or openly acknowledged, or whether there were some few thousand dollars in excess, the amount expended was in either case too large, much larger than ought to have been expended. The expenditure of such excessive sums in behalf of a candidate either with or without his knowledge and consent being contrary to sound public policy, harmful to the honor and dignity of the senate and dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government, such excessive expenditures are hereby censured, condemned and disapproved."

The end of the Newberry controversy came at 5:28 p. m. and senators, exhausted from the strain of the battle which had been waged unceasingly for days, quit work until Monday.

Day of Combat.

The final vote was taken after a day of combat unlike any in recent months and after the Democrats and the nine Republicans had made strenuous but futile efforts to upset the program of the Newberry supporters. Three resolutions, differing in phraseology but each declaring the seat valid, were voted down by exactly the same line-up which established Mr. Newberry's title to his seat. The contest resolutions were those of Senators Wallah of Montana and Owen of Oklahoma, Democrats, and Norris of Nebraska, Republican.

With the disposition of the three resolutions, Senator Cummings of Iowa, one of them from Birmingham, N. Y., today picked the arms conference question which was to decide the contest between the "protectionists" and "reformers." He did not complete the sentence, however, before Senator La Follette arose and addressed the chamber.

In the rush that had settled down in anticipation of the roll call, the Wisconsin senator looked a horrid of commotion of the stand his party colleagues were about to take.

He compared the Newberry case with that of former Senator Lorimer of Illinois, and contended that the comparison was favorable to Mr. Newberry.

La Follette quitted suddenly.

"The question, and the only question here," Mr. La Follette declared dramatically, "is whether a seat in the United States senate can be bought for a quarter of a million or for a million dollars."

Then, almost with the suddenness that he began, Mr. La Follette sat down, saying as he did so that he would yield to the one-hour speech limitation imposed on senators by a unanimous consent agreement.

The climax in the form of the majority resolution came just before the voting began. Senator Willis, Republican of Ohio, offered, and Senator Spencer, Republican of Missouri, in charge of the Newberry forces, accepted the proposal for a severe condemnation of the use of large funds as a substitute for the original clause declaring that the charges against Mr. Newberry were unfounded.

Review of Newberry Case.

The Michigan senatorial election contest between Henry Ford and Truman H. Newberry was one of the most notable and fought with as great heat and engaging either bunch of Congress in recent years.

The roots of the contest run back into the early summer of 1915 when President Wilson personally requested Mr. Ford to enter the race for the Michigan senatorship. The Detroit manufacturer's entrance into politics precipitated a situation without parallel in the state, for he declined to state whether he would seek nomination and election as a Republican or as a Democrat, entering the race subsequently as a candidate for nomination on both tickets.

On the Republican ballot in the primary which was held August 27, 1918, Mr. Ford was opposed by Mr. Newberry, former Governor Chase S. Osborn and William Gerald Simpson of Detroit. As a Democrat, he was opposed by James W. Helme of Adrian. Mr. Ford won the Democratic nomination handily and Mr. Newberry was victor on the Republican ticket. Neither had made personal efforts in the primary campaign, but neither participated personally in the fight prior to the general election. Mr. Ford attended to his manufacturing business and Mr. Newberry remained in New York city, where he was stationed as a lieutenant commander in the navy during the war.

BUSINESS MODERATE AND OF LITTLE NOTE

Investment Demand for Govern- ment Bonds Seems to Have Tem- porarily Run Its Course

New York, Jan. 12.—Business on the stock exchange today was moderate in volume and lacking in noteworthy features. The recent investment demand for government bonds and other high-grade securities seemed to have temporarily run its course.

Stocks were firm at the opening, reactionary during the intermediate period and irregular later when offerings of oil, tobacco, international paper and specialties, including Columbia Graphophone common and preferred at low records, limited fresh short selling.

Bulls, especially coalers, were the only stocks to manifest a degree of firmness or immunity from professional pressure. Extreme gains of 1 to 2 points in that group were reduced at the close.

Failure of the local Federal Reserve bank to order further reductions of rediscount and interest rates had only passing influence on money rates. Call loans again held at 3½ per cent and many new time loans at 4½ to 4¾ per cent were reported.

The resignation of the French cabinet, in which the question of German reparations evidently figured, occasioned some activity in remittances to Paris. Foreign exchanges as a whole, however, showed little unsettlement.

Liberty bonds eased on realizing for profit but closed at trifling gains and losses. Victory 3½s at 109.25 and the 4½s at 100.25 made new high records for a long period. Many of the old-draw railway bonds were in demand, but foreign issues were irregular on latest developments in the French political situation.

Never Heard of Murder

Tenth Juror Accepted in Smith Murder Trial After in Remorse Part of Convey—Another Panel of 100 Called.

Norwich, Jan. 12.—One juror was added to the nine already in the box for the Herbert W. Smith murder trial out of more than 50 examined today. The tenth juror's name is Arba Borne and like all of his colleagues he is a farmer. His home is in a remote corner of the town of Lincoln and so near to the boundary that the newspapers that he reads come from Portland and Madison counties. Mr. Borne acknowledged he had not heard of the Norwich Jan. 10 tragedy until he was called as a juror and inquired as to the nature of the case. Another special panel of 100 veniremen was ordered by Justice Kellogg late this afternoon to report at 9 a.m. in the morning, making 499 extra jurors who have been summoned since four jurors were accepted from the regular panel on Monday.

Ferguson of Cornell college of the Agricultural Institute force gave a very interesting talk on Farm Management and Soil Fertility and Floyd S.

GERMANY BUILDS COMMERCIAL CRAFT

All of Great Shipyards Active in Campaign to Regain Control of World's Commerce

Kiel, Germany, Jan. 12. — The machine guns of peace, pneumatic riveters, are rattling day and night in the former war harbor of Kiel, where a score of large commercial ships are under construction, the majority of them for use in the campaign Germany is waging for control of the maritime commerce of the world.

All of the great shipyards are active, but not all of them are working toward increasing the German commercial fleet. Scores of Scandinavian, Dutch and English ships are docked here, undergoing repairs or being remodelled. The cost to the foreigners is negligible, and the Germans are willing to work.

The mouth of the Kaiser Wilhelm canal is congested with the traffic that is cutting through from the North to the Baltic sea. It is upon this traffic that Kiel hopes to build its commercial future; this and the shipment of cargoes to the north, when commerce with Russia flourishes again.

Laborers at Kiel are paid 400 to 500 marks per week, and skilled labor runs in some cases to 1,500 marks a week for an eight-hour day. The unions are strong and have forced the payment of time and a half for overtime. The cost of living is low.

The Krupp works are the busiest and Hugo Stinnes, Germany's chief industrialist, is the best patron. He built freighters and tankers out of former U-boats. Two of these recently made a round trip to Mexico in good time and without accident. When loaded the rounded U-boat understructure is below the waterline, but the boats present an odd appearance when in ballast.

The hulks of several warships are being slowly dismantled every piece of iron being carefully saved away for use in the building of commercial boats.

SUPREME COURT AT DELHI

Special Term Called for February 11; County Officials Unable to Explain Move.

Albany, Jan. 12. — Governor Miller today designated Supreme Court Justice McCann of Elmira to hold a special term of supreme court at Delhi, commencing February 11.

Telephonic inquiries at Delhi last night failed to bring any information as to the reason for the summoning of this term of court. There are but few indications as to what trial, and so far no word has been heard there was no extraordinary business demanding immediate attention.

Delaware county officials were unable to explain the move and were much mystified, having received no intimation that a special term was in prospect.

APPEAL FROM COURT ORDER

Made by Justice Kellogg in the Famous Conklin Divorce Case.

An appeal has been taken to the Appellate division of the supreme court by Mangano & Mangano, attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Horace Conklin of Binghamton, against an order of Supreme Court Justice Abraham L. Kellogg of Oneonta, which left the divorce action of Mrs. Conklin against her husband still unsettled, until payment was made to the amount of counsel fees to be allowed Hinnman, Howard & Kattell, former attorneys of Mrs. Conklin in the divorce action.

The order was made by Justice Kellogg at a special term of supreme court held in this city on Nov. 15, when application was made by Hinnman, Howard & Kattell for counsel fees and for money paid out during the divorce action of the Conklins. The application was contested by Mangano & Mangano, who have represented Mr. and Mrs. Conklin since the amicable settlement of the divorce action and the return of the parties to live together.

Justice Kellogg decided that by virtue of the two applications made by Mrs. Conklin for money to enable her to carry on the divorce action and owing to the agreement of the parties and consent of attorneys to discontinue the action, that the claim of the plaintiffs' attorneys should not be allowed. He said that the plaintiffs' attorneys had a lien for legal services and for money paid out by them in carrying on the case and appointed former Justice Albert H. Sewell of Walton as referee to take evidence and report what he considered a fair and just estimate of the services of the attorneys.

He further held up the discontinuance of the action for divorce pending settlement of the attorney's fees and held that the case was in statu quo, to use a legal term.

HOMES FOR U. S. MEN

Coblentz Provides Apartments for Families of Yanks.

United States Army Officers' Wives and Children Get Modern Homes Built by German City—To Relieve Crowding.

Coblentz.—Apartment houses built by the municipality of Coblentz, aided by the German government, were opened recently for accommodation exclusively of officers of the American forces in Germany and their families.

The purpose of the houses is to relieve the crowded condition of the city, which has been a problem ever since the allied troops reached the Rhine.

There are 52 apartments of five rooms each, and all modern conveniences in the new buildings now being taken over by the American families. Work on these apartments was started about two years ago to alleviate, as the Germans put it, "an unbearable situation" as "no roof is large enough to cover two families." Additional quarters for noncommissioned officers and their families are also under construction.

Allied army officers say that the population of Coblentz perhaps has been harder pressed by the army requisition of quarters than any other occupied city. All available space for offices and billets has been under requisition for nearly three years, but German officials hope the new apartment houses will considerably improve the present crowded condition of the city.

In Coblentz there are about 3,000 rooms under requisition by the American army, the general policy of billeting being similar in all the zones as occupied by the French, British and Belgians. In the majority of cases, allied families have been quartered in the same houses or apartments with German families, the allied families occupying a separate part of the house so far as practicable, and using the kitchen and bath in common with a German occupant.

As a consequence, disputes have arisen, and the town major, or billeting officer, is often called upon to settle them. These disagreements almost invariably have their origin in the joint use of the kitchen. Because of this difficulty, the policy has universally been adopted of installing, wherever possible, a separate kitchen for the allied family.

Generally when a house or apartment has been taken over, the Germans have been permitted to take their furniture and personal belongings with them. In the American area it is stated, however, that only in exceptional cases have Germans been required to vacate their homes or apartments entirely. One eight-room school building in Coblentz was requisitioned exclusively for children of American officers.

OUR FACTORY WORKERS.

There has been practically no change in economic conditions during the past two months as indicated by employment among factory workers,
according to the report for November and December by Industrial Commissioner Henry D. Sayer of the State Department of Labor. In some lines
there had been a certain degree of increase, and in others something of depression, but in general the demand
for labor and the wages paid had remained about on one level.

A substantial increase in the number of employees in the tanning industry occurred for the first time since last July, a steady downward trend
having been reported from August to November, inclusive. Another important increase was in the manufacture of boots and shoes, due to seasonal activity in some of the larger factories. The metals and machinery
manufacturing industries continued their upward trend from November to December. Increased employment
again occurred in the iron and steel industry and in the railway equipment industry as the result of improved business conditions. The only decrease of importance were in the ship building, automobile, heating apparatus and brass and copper industries.

The paper-making industry reported an increase during the month as the result of improved business conditions in some mills. Some mills are still closed because of the labor troubles
that started in May. In wood manufacture there was a reported increase in the piano and furniture
industries, while a minor loss, probably as the result of seasonal change, appeared in the saw mill and planing mill products industry.

The stone, clay and glass products
industries as a whole showed no
change in the number of employees
during the month. The very substantial gain which occurred in the glass industry offset the decrease employment in the stone, cement and brick industries that occurred because of the ending of seasonal activity.

Employment in the wool manufacture industry was considerably less in December than in November because of reductions that occurred in the manufacture of felt and woolsens. The cotton and woolen knit goods industry also reported lessened employment in comparison with November. The textile group as a whole, however,
showed an increase in December.

Only two divisions of the clothing
group of industries reported greater employment during the month. These were the men's shirts and furnishings
industry and the laundering, cleaning
and dyeing industry.

The women's clothing industry reported a further reduction on account of the strike in the cloak and suit factories. Increases occurred in some of the dress manufacturing establishments.

The outstanding decreases in employment of the month were those which occurred in the food products industries. A reduction occurred in the meat packing industry as the result of the strike in several of the large plants. A large decrease in the canning industry was entirely due to the closing of the season's work.
The number of employees in the flour
and cereal products, sugar and beer-
age industries was also lessened during December because of seasonal conditions.

None of the industries comprising
the printing and paper goods group reported any important change from November to December. The light and power industry showed a small reduction in employment during the month.

THE NEWBERRY CASE.

Whatever the personal opinion of citizens may be as to the result of the vote yesterday in the Newberry case,
there is probably no disappointment in
the result, nor for that matter in the personnel of the senators in favor and opposing. It was natural that the larger number of Republicans—
old school Republicans they are generally called—should have aligned in his favor, and it was just as natural that Democrats should have withdrawn their support from him. The old-school men of that group would naturally have voted as party lines,
and the new addition of a few independent fact that Newberry in the senate
gave to the opponents of the League of Nations just the necessary number of votes to render that treaty unsuccessful. Of the senators on the middle ground there were several who believed Newberry should be unseated,
but not enough by their votes to render his seat vacant.

There are two important facts that loom large in the minds of the people of testimony and accusation. One is that senators are in the main merely men of party and can be expected to vote for party rather than from considerations of what is just. The other is that there are loopholes in the corrupt practices act through which the accused can go much more easily than the camel through the needle's eye. Loopholes which are availed of not by one party or the other, but by both. And it may well be that the general belief that money was poured like water not only for Newberry but for Ford, had its effect to some extent upon the vote.

vertised as being of exceptional magnitude and integration of local railroad

WHAT THE NEWSPAPERS SAY

A Franco-British Alliance?
The French have made some sort of a defensive understanding with Great Britain in the matter of concessions with respect to armaments
and armament. Their intransigent attitude at Washington, first on land
armament, then on battleship tonnage,
and then on submarines, appears to have been a diplomatic maneuver intended to win British consent to a defensive pact.—[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Maryland Marriage Mills.
It is gratifying to notice that one of the Assemblymen from Baltimore proposes to introduce a bill in the Maryland legislature to amend the marriage laws of that state in order to quell the marriage mills which have been a disgrace to the commonwealth.
The move is of particular interest to the people of this city and state, because majority of the runaway couples
that find Maryland a convenient place for the marriage ceremony come from Philadelphia and Pennsylvania. They wed in haste and repent at leisure,
and as a consequence we have more than our share of divorces and domestic tragedies.—[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

Muzzled and Tethered.
The adoption of the Root resolutions by the arms conference has put a muzzle on the ruthless C-bait and a tether that will keep it on good behavior. When it is generally known that the captain and crew of a submarine who violate the rules laid down by the five powers at the conference are to be treated as pirates on the high seas, there will be far less likelihood of a renewal of the German policy of ruthlessness in case
of another war.—[Harrisburg Telegraph.]

A Four-Power Balance.
In some such agreement and understanding as the four-power European pact that is being discussed at Cannes lies Europe's immediate hopes. If England, France, Italy and Belgium
can underwrite the peace of Europe,
then something like that long-talked-
of European reconstruction and financial readjustment may have a chance to get started. It will take this, or something similar, to soothe nervous Europe, promote a settled peace, cut down armies and restore confidence in the Old World's rag and paper currency.—[Philadelphia Ledger.]

Only One Refuge Left.
One Portland man has resolved to raise a full beard during the coming year because, as he says, that is about all that is left to him that a woman can't do.—[Portland Express.]

Families of Divided Nationality.
It's a curious medley that besieges
Ellis Island these days. An English woman with Australian children, a Russian mother and father with Turkish offspring, a Caucasian parent with Chinese children has not yet appeared,
but may at any moment.

The reason is that, under our law,
a person gets his nationality by his birth. Hence parents may be classed as of one country, children as of another. If one nation's quota is filled, another's not, parents may be admitted while their children are barred.

This, of course, leads to mistor-
tunes which the secretary of labor
is asked to straighten out by use of the parole power. One would think that careful examination of the cases
of families applying for passports to foreign countries would in future prevent such contingencies by informing immigrants of the law before they board steamships.—[New York Sun.]

Reactor Content.
Otto H. Kahn, appalled by the power of the agricultural bloc in Congress, cries out that the business men must organize against it. How his innocent soul, who began this life
business?—[Nebraska State Journal.]

It Would Be Interesting.
In the event that some Constitution-loving Congressman introduced a bill calling for an appropriation of $10,- 000,000 for the enforcement of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments, it would be interesting to note
the attitude of the Southern Congressmen who so enthusiastically and patriotically support the measure appropriating $10,000,000 for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.—[Springfield Union.]

A Reasonable Supposition.
We suppose our good-natured President says in his artful way when he happens to run across Senator Lodge,
"Well, Chub, what did the Arms Conference do today, if you care to take an outsider into your confidence?"
[Ohio State Journal.]

The Logic of Events.
No, our great President isn't exactly adopting any of the Wilson policies, the logic of events is merely leading them on, his foot-step.—
[Columbia Record.]

TO BECOME CHARTER MEMBERS.

All Who Enroll Wednesday Next with Women's Club of Cooperstown.

While the attendance and interest manifested in the organization held on Wednesday at which the Women's club of Cooperstown was launched,
it is appreciated that the weather was unfavorable and also that no doubt numerous notices were lost or failed to reach the addressed party. It is desired to make the new organization as representative as possible, and to have affiliated with the club from the outset all who are interested in the project. It is announced that another meeting to perfect the organization will be held at the New Fenimore on Wednesday next at 3.30 o'clock. It is requested that all ladies of Cooperstown in sympathy with the project and desirous of becoming members be present at this meeting. All who are enrolled as members that afternoon will be included in the list
of charter members of the organization. It is hoped that the attendance at the Wednesday meeting will embrace all who were prevented from being in attendance at the meeting on Wednesday last.

Bar Association Nominations.
The committee on nominations of the New York State Bar association has placed William D. Guthrie of New York city in nomination for the office
of president, former Justice Randolph Horion of Ithaca, well-known here,
has been nominated as vice president from this judicial district.
Owen C. Recker of this city is nominated as a member of the executive committee from this judicial district.
The annual meeting of the association is to be held in New York city on Jan. 20 and 21, and numerous attorneys of the city and county are planning to attend.

JUNIOR EXTENSION BOARD

OFFICERS FOR 1922 ELECTED AT ANNUAL MEETING OF BOARD.

Robert J. Smith of Roseboom Elected President—One Ninth of All Project
Workers in State Are in Osego.

The third annual meeting of the Osego County Junior Extension board was held in the Chamber of Commerce building, Cooperstown, on Friday afternoon, January 6th. The regular business preceding election of officers was attended to and approved
with Mr. Harrison Cossart as chairman pro-tem.

All representatives as directors were present except the Farm and Home Economic associations. Following the motion to proceed with election of officers the results were that Mr. Robert J. Smith of Roseboom, director
representing the Board of Supervisors,
was elected president. David W.
Stollie of Westford, director from the Pomona arrange, was elected vice president, and Mrs. Mabel T. Brazee, director from the Home Economics association, was elected secretary-treasurer.

In the report of the county leader
the following facts were brought out, namely:—While Osego county
was one of the last counties in the state to organize Junior Extension work on a full time basis, it now leads all other counties in the number of boys and girls enrolled and for numbers it had a higher percentage of workers completing their projects
than any other county. Of the 15,151 boys and girls enrolled for 1921 in New York state there were 1,726 of these in Osego county or 11.4
percent of all the workers. The average percent of completion of projects in the state was 63.7 per cent while in the county it was 55.1 per cent as
taken from data sent out by state leader.

It was also interesting to note that in Osego county last year there were seventy girls' clubs in Home-Making organized. As well be remembered,
there was only a part time leader for
the girls and for only a part of the year. This number of clubs is double that of one county in the state that has had a full time girl leader and three times as many clubs as the only other county that has had a full time
leader. Thus it was pointed out the necessity of a girl leader as an assistant for the work.

As was brought out, Osego county
led in the number of adult people acing as local leaders secured by the county leaders for carrying on the work. Also, the number of county organizations supporting and encouraging Junior Project work was larger than any other county in the state.
In a large measure, the success of the work has come about through the ready response of people of the county
and by organizations to a program that is well planned, constructive and sound for work with the boys and girls.

Program the present year will be about the same as that of last year except some of the general requirements of various projects will be slightly changed. Also, a new project will be added,—that of Farm accounting. In this the boy will keep the entire records of the farm activities.
Some special arrangement will be made with the parent as to carrying out these plans.

Reports discussed the finances and budget for the year. After spending some time on this the matter was left in the hands of the regular standing committee for some consideration.
Messrs. R. J. Smith, Harry Parker
and George B. Crippen. Report of this committee will be made at the adjourned meeting of the board to be held in Oneonta on January 26th.

On Saturday, January 7th, at the regular meeting of the directors of the Farm Bureau association the appointment of Mr. Earl Chase of Cooperstown, member at large, Corners
Community was made as representative from that association to act as director on the Junior Extension board. Mr. Chase takes the place of Mr. Harry Parker, who has so capably and efficiently managed the Junior Extension board as president the past two years.

THE ORDER OF BEN HUR

Begins Ten Days' Drive for Membership Next Monday Morning.

Beginning with next Monday, there will be a ten days' drive for membership carried on in Oneonta for the Tribe of Ben Hur, of which a tent
was recently organized in this city.
The order now has 40 charter members in this city and it is the belief of those locally interested that the number will be largely increased.
At a meeting which will be held on the evening of the opening day in K.
of P. hall, the principal speakers will be R. L. Lilly of Crawfordville, Ind., who is national supreme manager for the order, and Supreme Lecturer Man-cell, also of Crawfordville. An explanation of the Ben Hur scholarship
plan will be given and slides and moving pictures will be exhibited, after which there will be a banquet.
At the closing conference of the ten-day drive, Supreme Chief Garard of the order and State Manager Pickett,
by whom the local branch was organized, will also be present.

Negotiations Still Pending.
Progress was made yesterday in the effort to effect a settlement of the three cases in which George A. Frear is plaintiff and J. W. Van Cotte & Son of Unadilla are defendants now before Referee A. H. Sewall of Watton at supreme court chambers here. The effort will continue today.

He was shot down at Amiens, March 28, 1918. The statue is the work of Edward Clark Potter, a friend and neighbor of Bolling.

PEOPLE'S PARLIAMENT.

The Star declines all responsibility to pressed in this column and will not be therein. This column is intended to be for the people's use, the place where all can

The Veal Calf.

To the Editor of The Star: The circumstance, noted in Wednesday's Star, that the flesh of certain animals is known by names different from those of the living animals, like Columbus' egg trick, is not difficult to explain when you know how. For a long time after the conquest, the ruling class in England was composed of Normans, who spoke the French language. The gulf between the rich and poor was in those days much wider and deeper than it is at the present time. Then, as now, the animals were raised by the lower-class occupant of the land. Comparatively little of the meat raised by the poor tenant ever came to his table, if, indeed, he had a table. The poor man who raised the meat called both the animal and its flesh by its Saxon name, and the rich man who ate it called both by their French names.
Hence, when the cow which the poor man had raised came to the table of the rich man, it was beef, or beef,
the swine became pork, and so on
with all the other animals known in that country at that time. Turkey, buffalo, etc., which were unknown in England during the time of the Norman rule, have the same names for
the living animal and the flesh.

ROOF GARDEN POSSIBLE

Proprietor Stanford of Hotel Oneonta will construct dining room and ball room on roof of hotel building, according to plans submitted last evening by Proprietor H. M. Stanford.

A dining hall and ball room on top of the hotel Oneonta is possible if plans submitted last evening by Proprietor H. M. Stanford materialize. If necessary, changes to the heating plant can be made without interfering with the present heating of the building, a contract will be signed on Monday whereby a large New York syndicate will acquire possession of the space now occupied by the hotel dining room and the serving room back of it, Mr. Stanford said. The name of the concern or the nature of the business which it will conduct cannot be announced at this time but according to Mr. Stanford the company, whose board of directors has already approved of the proposition, will spend from $25,000 to $30,000 on their acquisition.

If the deal goes through, Architect Orlo Epps will be commissioned at once to prepare plans for the construction of a dining room and ball room on the roof of the hotel building. The roof garden thus constructed will be up-to-date in every particular, Mr. Stanford promises. The roof is flat and is of sufficient size to construct a dining room and ball room of ample dimensions. The ball room will be so arranged that it can be used as a convention hall. If patronage warrants, Mr. Stanford will run a cabaret in conjunction with the dining service. The present elevator, extended one floor up, will provide access to the roof. Glass enclosed sides will permit an unobstructed view of every corner of the city and surrounding territory.

There was a large attendance at the open house meeting of the Women's club yesterday afternoon, and all present listened with delight to an interesting paper by Miss Bagg of the Huntington Memorial library. Her theme was "Old and New Books for Children," and in her remarks she traced the growth of the children's book idea through the unique hornbooks of the sixteenth century to the delightful volumes of the present day, the four-century journey being pleasantly interrupted by frequent wayside stops for consideration of books of the time.

CLEARING AWAY THE SNOW

City Streets Being Made Passable for the Motor Driven Fire Apparatus with the Snow Being Removed by the Business Section—Sidney and Cooperstown Bus Lines with Aid of Plows Keep Roads Open for Motor Buses.

Oneonta made good progress yesterday in getting free from the hindrance of the snow which impeded travel and interfered with business. The first problem was to get streets opened up sufficiently to permit free movement about of the motor driven fire apparatus and for this the snow was pressed into service and sent about the principal streets breaking a passage for motor vehicles. One of the tractors became disabled, but another was secured and the condition last night was considered quite satisfactory with little danger that the apparatus would be hindered in getting into the remote corners of the city.

The street department set about clearing away the snow banks in the center of the business section and good progress was made. Most of the fire hydrants was cleared of snow in the congested section and it is believed that today will see the snow sufficiently removed from the business section to permit the full use of the streets in the central part of the city. Occasionally yesterday a motor car had trouble in getting out when the wheels became settled in the soft snow next to the curb, and in a few instances cars became stuck in the snow and across the roadway so that trolley cars were delayed.

The railroads were not greatly handicapped, the movement of passenger trains being quite regular. Most of the delays resulted from heavy freight trains being caught in the snow, which was the cause of the evening trains from Albany being an hour and two hours late respectively. The trolley and U. & D. kept their trains practically on schedule time and had no trouble in doing so.

Mr. LaGrange of the Sidney bus line made two trips between Oneonta and Sidney during Wednesday night and the passenger car moved on schedule time and with little hindrance from the snow. The only drifts of any size were in the vicinity of the Hale farm on the bend a mile east of Oneonta but it was made passable by the plow. The Cooperstown line also succeeded by dint of hard work the previous night in keeping its line open. The Worcester and Stamford buses were snowbound and the Franklin turnpike is reported to be quite badly drifted. One of the gentlemen made the trip to and from Laurens, though that road is being used largely by horse drawn sleighs. Country roads generally are more or less drifted and more horses made their appearance on the city streets during the day than are often seen. It is expected however that conditions will improve unless there should follow another snowfall.

CHARLES HARRISON FEB. 8

Found Necessary to Change Date Previously Announced—Elks' Glee Club Rehearsing for Their Part in Concert.

The impossibility of securing the Oneonta Theatre for the night of February 8 has made necessary the advancement of the Charles Harrison concert to the preceding night, February 7. The Elks' committee in charge of the concert received a telegram from Mr. Harrison yesterday stating that February 8 would be satisfactory to him. Now that the date has been definitely settled it will be possible for the Elks to go ahead with the printing of tickets and with the necessary advertising.

Mr. Harrison, whose concert here last year under the auspices of the Elks made a lasting impression upon music lovers in the city, will be supported by the Elks Glee Club. That organization is practicing almost nightly for their part in the concert and the leader, James Keeton, gives assurance that the local singers will give the best program of their career. It is expected that the Elks will appear in the Tuxedo outfits now being made for the club by George Yarnall of 213 Main street.

Declares Regular Dividend.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Oneonta Building and Loan association, held Wednesday evening, the regular semi-annual dividend of three per cent on the outstanding capital stock was declared. The condition of the association is exceedingly prosperous, the applications for loans during the past month having exceeded $60,000. The association is widely known as one of the most successful of loan institutions, and the flattering statement is made that a party of citizens from another city of similar rank is soon to visit Oneonta for the purpose of getting ideas and inspiration for the work in their home town.

Investment Bankers to Open Offices.

The firm handles issues of investment stocks and bonds.

THE WAY OF PROGRESS.

"A city that looks ahead gets ahead." Oneonta looked ahead a year ago, and we have got ahead. Our vision must now be extended farther ahead, and the push of the Chamber of Commerce, which puts the city ahead, must be stronger and more vigorous than ever. It is the progress of the city that counts, and that is the progress that the Chamber of Commerce is making. Charles Smith.

CAPTAINS OF BOOSTERS

Meeting This Morning to Perfect Plans for Chamber of Commerce Drive.

Colonel Ralph S. Wyckoff has called a meeting of the captains of teams of the Boosters for 10:30 o'clock this morning. The purpose of the meeting is to perfect the plans for the Chamber of Commerce membership increase drive, which will be waged in competition with teams of older members the earlier part of next week.

Satisfied that the arduous Colonel Ceperley's workers manifested at their meeting Wednesday will be somewhat dampened by the reports of the first day's work the Boosters are going ahead with confidence that they will make good the spirit of their challenge.

Final details for the campaign were laid yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The plan for Monday noon and ending Wednesday noon will be held at the Windsor hotel, in accordance with the Chamber's policy to hold its functions at different places when ample facilities are provided.

Program of work meetings for the membership, at which new activities will 1922 will be formulated, have been postponed until the time of the annual meeting on Friday, February 10. The directors took this action to prevent any interference with the carrying out the campaign plans as successfully as possible, also feeling that pending activities are sufficient to keep the organization busily engaged until that time.

DREAMLAND CHANGES HANDS

Dance Hall Will Be Conducted Hereafter Under Supervision of C. Frank Hinman—Undesirable Element to Be Eliminated.

C. Frank Hinman, resident manager of the Hotel Oneonta, has taken over the lease of Dreamland hall and it hereafter be conducted under his supervision. Charles O'Hagan of Oswego, a young man with considerable experience in conducting first class dancing academies, will be in active charge.

The hall, which boasts of the best dance floor in the city is now being repainted and decorated and will when finished present a most pleasing appearance. Dance will be held on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, the Klipnochie Syncopaters furnishing the music. An endeavor will also be made by Mr. Hinman to organize a dancing club of the younger residents of the city to meet each Thursday evening.

Mr. Hinman announces that the hall will be conducted in a manner that will make it safe for anyone to go there for an evening of pleasant recreation. The undesirable who frequent public dance halls will be given distinctly to understand that their presence is not wanted and such persons will be denied admission. The place will be a public dance hall in name only one sense—that is that all decent persons are cordially invited to enjoy its privileges. Every endeavor will be made to raise the tone of the hall and to cater to a high class patronage.

MR. BUTTS A DIRECTOR.

Of United States Credit Corporation in Which Many Oneontans are Interested.

Hon. Lavern P. Butts was in Rome on Wednesday in attendance at the annual meeting of the United States Credit corporation in which concern he with other Oneontans are interested as stockholders. The fight for control of the corporation resulted in the success of the faction with which the Oneonta gentlemen are affiliated. President P. J. Wilson of Utica was in full command and directors favorable to him were chosen. Among the new directors elected are Charles R. O'Connor of New York city and Hobart. Others elected to the board who are also well-known in this section are William H. Riley and Harry A. Yetter of Binghamton. Mr. Butts is one of the board of directors having been elected a year ago for a term of three years.

The company does a large volume of business in financing certain business enterprises which require additional capital for purchases and the corporation is reported in a very prosperous condition. It is understood that residents of Oneonta have over $50,000 in the stock of the company.

Russell Suffers Broken Arm.

BASEBALL MANAGER CHOSEN

His name will be Wahlberg, However, Until Meeting on January 26, at Which He Will Be Present—Is Already Scouting for Players.

The man who will place the Oneonta baseball team next summer has been selected. President Marx of the Community Athletic association announced last evening, but his name will not be announced until the meeting of the association on January 26. Assurance has been received that the new manager will be present at that time to be presented to the members of the association.

It can be said, however, that the man who is expected to turn out even a better team next summer than was last year's championship outfit, is a player whose name was once, and is so many years ago, on the lips of every fan in the city. He achieved distinction on one of the most famous teams in baseball history and is a man thoroughly qualified as both a player and a pilot.

The new manager has already started the work of assembling a team and is being assisted in that labor by a scout associated with an American league team. Practically every member of last year's team has signified his desire to play in Oneonta again but as yet no contracts have been signed.

The association meeting will be held in the state armory on January 26, it having been found impossible to secure the armory for January 25, the fact was previously announced. The fact that the new manager will be present will probably cause every fan in the city to mark that date as taken on his engagement book.

THE FOUR HORSEMEN

Mighty Film Spectacle Pleases Many at Oneonta Theatre—Special Music by Augmented Orchestra.

Despite difficult traveling condition The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse journeyed to Oneonta yesterday and at both performances at the Oneonta theatre played to large audiences. The picture is a truly remarkable presentation of "Vincente Basso Ibanes" famous novel, as any person who saw it yesterday will testify. The Four Horsemen is not a war play except as the war serves as a background for a story teeming with dramatic passion. The big settings are remarkable in their picturization of incidents in many parts of the world. And through it all is the uncanny vision of St. John, picturing the Four Horsemen—Conquest, War, Famine and Death. A cast of notable players appears, including Rudolph Valentino, who will appear later at the theatre in The Sheik.

Enjoyment of the picture was augmented by the special musical score rendered by the Theatre orchestra in conjunction with the musicians accompanying the picture. During one of the most impressive scenes Miss Irene Hayes of this city sang the French national anthem, "The Marseillaise," in a very pleasing manner. The picture will be shown at the theatre for the last times today and tomorrow.

DIAL RADIUM $120,000 GRAM

Atoms Used on Luminous Faces Causes 200,000 Explosions Every Second.

New York—If a thimbleful of radium costs $120,000, how can manufacturers afford to use it for painting the dials of $4.98 wrist watches? Does this paint really contain radium?

The answer to these frequently heard questions explains some of the wonders of radium, for that metal is used for this work, each dial containing a minute portion of the real radium. The fact that so infinitesimal a quantity of radium as is used on a watch dial is able to make the figures glow in the dark makes it easier for the average person to understand how and why radium in larger quantities is effective when brought into contact with diseased tissue by the medical profession.

Luminous material seen on watch and clock dials is a combination of radium and a specially prepared zinc sulphide. If one of these dials be examined with a good reading glass, in the dark, after the eyes of the examiner have been in darkness for about five minutes, the luminous material will be seen to be scintillating with scintillations or tiny flashes of light. These flashes are caused by the explosion of the atoms in the minute portion of real radium in the mixture.

"From a gram of radium (one thimbleful) there are about 131,000,000,000 projectile-like particles every second. Crystals of zinc sulphide would break down quickly if exposed to such a bombardment. By reducing the percentage of radium until the number of these particles from the exploding atoms on the dial was about .000,000 a second, it has been found that the dial would have a brightness easily visible in darkness and for a period of five years. This means that the quantity of radium in the average dial cannot be more than one millionth of a gram, and it is only about such a quantity that is on the average dial."

BRIDGE TO HAVE LONGEST SPAN

Structure to Connect Detroit and Windsor Will Break All Records.

WILL MEASURE 1,802 FEET

Upper Deck Expected to Be Ready for Service Within Four Years—Two Years More Will See Bridge Completed.

Detroit, Mich.—Plans for the new international suspension bridge to connect Detroit and Windsor, just announced, show that it will have the longest single span in the world, measuring 1,802 feet, or 24 inches longer than the great cantilever at Quebec. Of double-deck construction, the new link between Canada and the United States will accommodate street car, automobile and pedestrian traffic on the upper deck and passenger and freight train service on the lower deck.

Barring unforeseen delays, actual construction work will commence next spring, and within four years the upper deck should be ready for service. Without interfering with traffic on the highway deck, it is planned then to begin construction of the lower deck, which should be finished in two years more.

Weights 107,000 Tons.

The bridge and its approaches will have a total weight of 107,000 tons, with eight cables carrying the huge span. Six of these cables will be 21 inches in diameter, and two will be 18 inches thick; together they will support a pull of 146,000,000 pounds.

Suspended from two towers, each rising 380 feet above the water, the span will have a width of 87 feet for the highway deck with two trolley tracks, two sidewalks and two roadways, while the lower deck will have four railway tracks and a 20 foot space for public utilities equipment. Electric locomotives would be used for traffic across the lower deck.

Completion of the bridge will mean the end of the train ferries, which for years have carried freight and passenger traffic across the Detroit river, even after the opening of the Michigan Central tunnel.

The bridge, which will be built by the Canadian Transit company and the American Transit company, with the approval of the Canadian and United States governments will span the river almost from the center to the shore line of the two cities. Construction is expected to begin from the American side.

Bonds for $30,000,000.

The promoting companies have been authorized to issue $30,000,000 in securities for the project. It is estimated that completion of the highway or upper deck will cost approximately $15,000,000. Purchase of shore space for the approaches is under way.

Plans for the bridge were drawn chiefly by Charles E. Fowler of New York. Associated with him in the erection of the structure will be George H. Pegram, chief engineer of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, New York; Prof. William H. Burr of New York, Col. C. M. Monserrat, Montreal; Prof. C. B. Young of the University of Toronto, and Prof. H. E. Riggs of the University of Michigan.

EVEN LINEN TOWELS COMMON

Innkeeper's Protest to Health Officials Vain Against Pennsylvania Law.

Harrisburg, Pa.—A strange interpretation of the state law prohibiting the use of the "common towel" in public places has been received by state health officials from a hotel proprietor in a small town. A formal notice was served on him that he must discontinue the use of a "common towel" in his inn. In an indignant protest he replied that he did not "use common towels, but had his wife make a special trip to Philadelphia to purchase linen ones." State health officials disagree with his interpretation of the law, and have notified him to discontinue the "common towel," even if it is linen.

ALASKA SNOWFALL IS LIGHT

Richmond, Va., or St. Louis is Three Times as Great, Says Explorer Stefansson.

Washington.—By the figures of the United States weather bureau, snowfall in winter in St. Louis, Mo., or in Richmond, Va., is three or four times as great as for the north coast of Alaska, while we believe that the snowfall in St. Louis or the Highlands of Scotland is ten times as great as on the north tip of Greenland or on the northerly islands, discovered by my expedition of 1912-13, says Vilhjalmur Stefansson.

In the north polar regions there is, to begin with, very little snow on the ground at the end of winter. In some parts of the polar regions the temperature is 100 degrees in the shade in the summer. For three or four or five months, according to just where you are, you have green prairies and flowery meadows that are a delight to every sense but for the unbelievable plague of insects—mosquitoes, sand flies, horseflies and the like.

Seed's Remarkable Vitality. The longest known survival of any seed is that of a certain Egyptian lotus. A dried seed pod kept in the South Kensington museum, England, contained seed which was tested and found to grow after 95 years.

Cement for China. Delicate china may be mended by using the following cement: mix rice flour with cold water and allow it to simmer over a fire until it becomes thick.

Franklin on Thrift.

A man may, if he knows not how to save as he gets, keep his nose to the grindstone all his life and die not worth a groat at last.—Benjamin Franklin.

Her Callers Came, Reception Was Hot

Mount Vernon, Wash.—Callers were what Mrs. Imogene Harrington craved—Sunday callers and lots of them. Furthermore she desired that her visitors arrive at once, so as not to keep things waiting.

Mrs. Harrington had no reception invitations out. And, if she had, even the humanized mail service would have been too slow. So Mrs. Harrington, brought from her home, near Bow, earlier in the day, on an insanity charge, set fire to the women's section of the Mount Vernon jail.

The visitors arrived with speed that delighted the heart of the hostess. And the drunken poured.

Mad Bull Has Fit.

Poplar Bluffs, Mo.—William Daniels admits that he is as much opposed to Hereford bulls as Ireland is to Johnny's "bull." And William is in favor of "fits." Because an angered Hereford threw a fit Daniel's two small sons are alive. The two boys, ten and twelve, were attacked by an irate bull. With the youths lying on the ground the infuriated animal was preparing to gore them to death when he suddenly was seized with a fit. Frothing at the mouth the bull was slain by a veterinary surgeon, who declared the animal had hydrophobia.

Finds Diamond in Gizzard.

Circleville, O.—Mrs. George L. Miller of this city cut into a chicken gizzard and found a sparkling stone. She took it to a jeweler and found that it was a diamond, valued at $100.

FORGE STAMPS IN ARGENTINA

Large Circulation of Counterfeit Five-Cent Issue Discovered in That Country.

Buenos Aires—A swindle of large proportions has been perpetrated on the Argentine post office department by the printing and sale of false 5 cent stamps. The sale of these stamps has been going on possibly for years, but it was only recently discovered. The department has ordered the withdrawal of the issue.

The post office department admitted that the fraudulent stamps were practically identical with the authorized ones and that it was not possible to trace the source of the questionable supply.

Mother Saves Son's Eyes

Canon City, Colo.—Mother's love and pluck in sticking at an automobile steering wheel for 12 hours over mountain roads through a snowstorm saved eight-year-old Leo Fisk's eye sight. The boy's eye was injured at risk, one day and his mother, Mrs. W. A. Fisk, drove all night from Dillon in the Cripple Creek district, to get the lad to a hospital here.

Ingenuous and Economical.

A hand-operated tram running on a rail suspended from the cornice of a building is a device used for window cleaning of buildings of large window area. This device, which also can be used for painting, replaces more expensive scaffolding.

Proud Professors.

In ancient days professors were "too proud" to take wages, and depended on gifts from their pupils for their existence. The Emperor Vespasian was the first to establish state-paid education during his reign, about A. D. 69.

An Open Letter of Appreciation for the Unprecedented Response to Our Announcement of the New Year

MOXIE PRICE REDUCTIONS

To Our Millions of Friends Everywhere:

In response to our communication of January 1, announcing a substantial price reduction, bringing Moxie "back to normalcy," you have certainly started the New Year off happily for us. Your response has been so liberal in patronage that it has overwhelmed us. The response has been universal, North, South, East and West.

To undertake to reply to this by letter, wire or phone is an impossible task, owing to the volume. We feel, therefore, that we must again adopt this open letter through the newspapers in order that you may be aware of our appreciation of your wonderful expression which further tends to confirm our faith in our enormous goodwill, born of the best product on earth—the standard beverage MOXIE—and of universal fair dealing for almost half a century.

Particularly gratifying is the fact that every Moxie jobbing house and retail dealer, their salesmen and employees generally, numbering approximately 300,000, grasped the situation with enthusiasm. They all put their shoulders to the wheel and put Moxie, the standard beverage, back to normal, as it were, almost overnight—the most wonderful illustration of co-operation that was ever brought to the public attention, we believe.

Words fail us to express our appreciation, but it will inspire us with all the force at our command to bigger and better efforts if possible.

WHY GOOD MEN QUIT

Go today into the Treasury department, the Department of Agriculture, the Department of Commerce, or into any other establishment of the government doing important technical work, and they will tell you that their chief difficulty is to retain competent employees in the supervisory and technical positions. Their turnover is abnormally high in these positions.

Every day men leave the service to accept private employment at materially increased salaries, so that the departments are continuously going through a process of selecting and training executives and technical employees, only to lose them, as they become really valuable, on account of the inadequacy of their compensation.

The second factor which contributes to the present ineffectiveness of the government as a business establishment is found in the improper organization of the executive branch of the government for effective service. You are familiar, at least in a general way, with the defects of the present administrative machinery.

You know for example, that the Interior department now has jurisdiction over a great number of bureaus of a miscellaneous character that have nothing to do with each other or with the functions which the Interior department was originally established to perform.

You know that many agencies have been located in the Treasury department, the great fiscal department of the government, which are purely non-fiscal in character, such as the coast guard, the public health service, the supervising architect's office and the bureau of war risk insurance.

You know that the great bulk of the civil public works of the government are executed under the supervision of the War department, although the bureau of public roads is located in the Department of Agriculture, and the reclamation service in the Department of the Interior.

You know, furthermore, of the independent existence outside the jurisdiction of any of the great executive departments of some 40-odd boards, commissions, offices and bureaus.

These are merely examples of a condition that would require volumes to describe fully, but it is generally known that the executive branch of the government is at the present time illogically and uneconomically organized in many important particulars.

It should be remembered, however, that even with an ideal personnel and a perfect organization it is doubtful if the high degree of economy and efficiency that characterizes private business can ever be attained in the government offices. This is so because economies made by government officials are not transformed into dividends for themselves as they are in private business.

There is an impression in congress and throughout the country that men of great ability are not found in government service; that the salaries are not sufficient to attract and hold them. On the contrary, there are a great many people of distinguished ability in the government service. One is more and more impressed by that fact, especially since the war, that men of high ability and distinction are being lost to the government. The comparison was made and again to the advantage of the government employee. But the salaries are not the attraction; it is the work itself. This is well understood by some eminent observers of public life. Secretary of State Hughes declared himself as follows before the advisory committees of the war risk insurance bureau:

It has been my experience that with the higher officers, the officers of greater institutions, where efficiency is rewarded by public representation—while the field is a limited one because of the great opportunity to men of ability—it is still entirely possible to draw to the public service men of great ability and distinction because of the desire to render public service, and the number of men who are available for that purpose, while relatively small, is still sufficient if the appointing officer wants men of that class in order to obtain them. However, he must give a free field. He must not interfere as to political action to control administration tendencies and must permit them to be given the reward which a well-conducted office of importance will give to its incumbent in the public estimation.

Now the difficulty increases when you pass those heads that get the credit and come to the technical expert who has got to do the regular work and whose efficiency the operation of the department finally depends. These men are little known. The public hasn't time even to learn their names. They are interested in work to a degree of being willing to make sacrifices.

There is active competition for men of brains and great ability of that sort, and the government will never be served unless it pays the price for these men. Now I think that is a plain situation. You may be able to get a director in the bureau of war risk insurance for $5,000 a year, or for nothing at all, but you cannot get an actuary. You cannot get insurance men. You cannot get supervisory tendents. That would be my judgment.

DIAL RADIUM $120,000 GRAM

Atoms Used on Luminous Faces Causes 200,000 Explosions Every Second.

New York.—If a thimbleful of radium costs $120,000, how can manufacturers afford to use it for painting the dials of $4.98 wrist watches? Does this paint really contain radium?

The answer to these frequently heard questions explains some of the wonders of radium, for that metal is used for this work, each dial containing a minute portion of the real radium. The fact that so infinitesimal a quantity of radium as is used on a watch dial is able to make the figures glow in the dark makes it easier for the average person to understand how and why radium in larger quantities is effective when brought into contact with diseased tissue by the medical profession.

Luminous material seen on watch and clock dials is a combination of radium and a specially prepared zinc sulphide. If one of these dials be examined with a good reading glass, in the dark, after the eyes of the examiner have been in darkness for about five minutes, the luminous material will be seen to be seething with acintillations or tiny flashes of light. These flashes are caused by the explosion of the atoms in the minute portion of real radium in the mixture.

"From a gram of radium (one thimbleful) there are about 134,000,000,000 projectile-like particles every second. Crystals of zinc sulphide would break down quickly if exposed to such a bombardment. By reducing the percentage of radium until the number of these particles from the exploding atoms on the dial was about 200,000 a second, it has been found that the dial would have a brightness easily visible in darkness and for a period of five years. This means that the quantity of radium in the average dial cannot be more than one-millionth of a gram, and it is only about such a quantity that is on the average dial."

Maudie on Papa.

Maudie's papa is night editor on a newspaper, a fact which Maudie apparently hasn't learned; for when someone asked her a few days ago what her father did for a living, she replied: "I don't know. I think he's a burglar, 'cause he's out all night."

BRIDGE TO HAVE LONGEST SPAN

Structure to Connect Detroit and Windsor Will Break All Records.

WILL MEASURE 1,802 FEET

Upper Deck Expected to Be Ready for Service Within Four Years—Two Years More Will See Bridge Completed.

Detroit, Mich.—Plans for the new international suspension bridge to connect Detroit and Windsor, just announced, show that it will have the longest single span in the world, measuring 1,802 feet, or 24 inches longer than the great cantilever at Quebec. Of double-deck construction, the new link between Canada and the United States will accommodate street car, automobile and pedestrian traffic on the upper deck and passenger and freight train service on the lower deck.

Barring unforeseen delays, actual construction work will commence next spring, and within four years the upper deck should be ready for service. Without interfering with traffic on the highway deck, it is planned then to begin construction of the lower deck, which should be finished in two years more.

Weights 107,000 Tons.

The bridge and its approaches will have a total weight of 107,000 tons, with eight cables carrying the huge span. Six of these cables will be 21 inches in diameter, and two will be 18 inches thick; together they will support a pull of 148,000,000 pounds.

Suspended from two towers, each rising 390 feet above the water, the span will have a width of 97 feet for the highway deck with two trolley tracks, two sidewalks and two roadways, while the lower deck will have four railway tracks and a 20-foot space for public utilities equipment. Electric locomotives would be used for traffic across the lower deck.

Completion of the bridge will mean the end of the train ferries, which for years have carried freight and passenger traffic across the Detroit river, even after the opening of the Michigan Central tunnel.

The bridge, which will be built by the Canadian Transit company and the American Transit company, with the approval of the Canadian and United States governments, will span the river almost from the center to the shore line of the two cities. Construction is expected to begin from the American side.

Bonds for $30,000,000.

The promoting companies have been authorized to issue $30,000,000 in securities for the project. It is estimated that completion of the highway or upper deck will cost approximately $15,000,000. Purchase of shore space for the approaches is under way.

Plans for the bridge were drawn chiefly by Charles E. Fowler of New York. Associated with him in the erection of the structure will be George H. Pogram, chief engineer of the Interborough Rapid Transit company, New York; Prof. William H. Burr of New York, Col. C. M. Monserat, Montreal; Prof. C. R. Young of the University of Toronto, and Prof. H. E. Riggs of the University of Michigan.

EVEN LINEN TOWELS COMMON

Innkeeper's Protest to Health Officials Vain Against Pennsylvania Law.

Harrisburg, Pa.—A strange interpretation of the state law prohibiting the use of the "common towel" in public places has been received by state health officials from a hotel proprietor in a small town. A formal notice was served on him that he must discontinue the use of a "common towel" in his inn. In an indignant protest he replied that he did not "use common towels, but had his wife make a special trip to Philadelphia to purchase linen ones." State health officials disagree with his interpretation of the law, and have notified him to discontinue the "common towel," even if it is linen.

ROTATION GIVES RESULTS

Farmer's Week Visitors at Cornell to Discuss the Demerits of Continuous Cropping.

Ithaca, Jan. 12.—The exchange of opinions and observations on crop rotation will be a feature of the "rotation forum" to be held at the annual Farmers' Week at Cornell, February 13 to 18, according to an announcement made today. Farmers are bringing their own experiences with crop rotation to this discussion, while the college folks will tell of investigations and observations here and elsewhere. At the Rothamstead experiment station in England, wheat grown continuously on the same land for 61 years has made an average yield of 12.9 bushels an acre without fertilizer. Other wheat which received only mineral fertilizer yielded 14.5 bushels, and wheat receiving complete fertilizer yielded 36.5 bushels an acre.

Value of Rotation.

In a rotation which included rutabagas, barley, clover and wheat which has been running at that station since 1818, the wheat during five rotation seasons from '21 to 1923, has averaged 27.4 bushels on land receiving no fertilizer for the entire period. In a rotation which received only mineral fertilizers, five rotation courses of wheat gave an average yield of 38.4 bushels, as compared to 15.5 when wheat is grown continuously with the same fertilizer treatment. The wheat yield in the rotation with clover, and where only mineral fertilizer was used, is larger than that where wheat is grown continuously and a complete fertilizer is used. These results show that crop rotation maintains yields, and that clover in the rotation effectively supplements mineral fertilizers.

NEW $1,000 FRANKLIN CAR

Announced in New York Yesterday That Four Cylinder Air Cooled Car Will Be Produced in 1923.

Announcement was made by the Franklin Automobile Company of Syracuse at New York city on Thursday at a meeting of the eastern Franklin dealers that a car to cost $1,000 is to be put on the market by that company.

The car has a four-cylinder, air-cooled engine, weighs 1,800 pounds and is of two-passenger size. Production will commence early in 1923, the actual date depending upon completion of patterns, tools and securing of machinery. Quantity deliveries are in prospect by April, 1923, at which time output will be nearing the 100 car per day mark.

The new car was developed in 1915 and 1919 and was to have been produced in 1920, but was postponed when business depression hit the country. Franklin officials anticipate that the new car will command a market at a time when general conditions will be most favorable for volume sale.

This announcement is of special interest in this city as repeated efforts have been made to interest Oneonta in the formation of a company to manufacture an air-cooled car scheduled to sell around $1,250, using the Rodgers engine which has been on exhibition here. Only this week Mr. Rodgers and others were in the city making a final effort to interest a committee representing the Chamber of Commerce in taking hold of the project and establishing a factory here.

While having confidence in the Rodgers engine and its ability to pull a load and still not become overheated, there have been troubles that an original company experienced which included Oneonta looking with favor upon the project. It is not unlikely that the new Franklin at a low price will still further dampen the interest of the local citizens in the Rodgers engine and car.

The Court "Got Him."

Among the interesting incidents of the Smith trial as related in the Norwich Sun, is the following which transpired during the examination of witnesses on Wednesday:

"The court, says the Sun, has repudiated several jurymen for opinions formed through their reading of newspaper accounts of the case involved. When Spencer Aldrich was being examined, he admitted having formed, if not an opinion, then certainly an impression of the case from what he had read. He was questioned by Judge Kellogg, and the following dialogue took place:

"You know that in this country we do not try cases by the newspaper, don't you?"

"Oh, certainly, I know we couldn't do that."

"Well, suppose you read one thing in one paper, and another in another paper, what opinion would you form then?"

"This called the following answer from the jurymen, with an expression which brought a laugh from everyone in the court room:

"Well, judge, you've certainly got me now."

VISUAL EDUCATION FOR EX-SOLDIERS

Accomplishes Desired Results in Fifth the Time Lectures and Study Would Take

Chicago, Jan. 12.—Disabled world war soldiers, taking courses of education from the government can learn through the visual educational system, recently instituted by the government, in one-fifth of the time they would require through lectures and the study system, according to results of experiments made here by the Society of Visual Education.

"There are various reasons for this condition," said Sumner Calvert, superintendent of the society here. "The chief factor in making this rapid education possible is the fact that through the pictures the pupil is enabled to gain what might be called practical experience as well as theory, for the subject under study is gone through with in far more elaborate detail than text books supply and the eye can gather and record it on the mind by actual vision of the subject far faster than the mind can absorb and record it through study."

"Of course, the study is the secondary feature of the course that puts the finishing touch to the pupil, but he usually knows what he is reading about and can avoid concentrated effort, if he has taken the visual system first."

The government has made educational films dealing with mechanical arts, the machine shop, dairy and light farm work, civics and what taxes are for in relation to the city and government, home culture, health and hygiene and geography and history.

The government, however, is particularly in case a film is being made with the subject of dairying, a dairy with the very latest equipment is picked out. The picture machine and operator is transported to this dairy and accompanying him is a professor from a leading university, who is considered to have knowledge that is the very latest word on the subject of cows, milk, butterfats and dairying in general. Also a practical dairyman who stands at the very top of his profession is in the party. Then there is the general film manager. These three decide upon the manner in which the picture is to be made to bring forth the best results from the student's viewpoint. Every detail of dairying is shown with close ups on all features that require close study when in text books. Time in exposure is considered for in each showing of the films a professor and a practical dairyman instruct the pupils in the finer details. Health and hygiene are included in all pictures.

The same system of taking the pictures is applied to every film. In the machine shop pictures, for example, an expert machinist and a professor in mechanical engineering both oversee the picture filmed and watch not only for detail that the student needs but for the details that the students should be cautioned to avoid.

COMMITTEE ON HIGHWAYS

Supervisors Visit Oneonta and Worcester to Arrange for Rail-Way Crossing.

The committee on highways of the Board of Supervisors of Otsego county, consisting of J. Dana Whipple, Frank Taber and J. D. Beardsley, with D. J. Kilkenny, county attorney, as counsel, visited Oneonta on Wednesday for the purpose of completing arrangements for the purchase of right of way and the settling of damages to be incurred by reason of the construction of the viaduct over the Ontario & Western railway tracks near Sidney. All arrangements were made, completing the preliminary requirements for construction, and the committee will urge on the state highway department that the work be done at the earliest possible date.

On Thursday the same committee visited the town of Worcester for the purpose of making similar arrangements relative to the overhead crossing on the D. & H. tracks at East Worcester. The committee was unable to complete its work owing to the absence of one property owner, but all other settlements were made and it is expected to complete the arrangements there at an early date. In this case, as in that of the Sidney viaduct, construction will be urged during the season of 1922 if possible.
